Mitzelfelt to Host Housing Fair Tomorrow

VICTORVILLE – County Supervisor Brad Mitzelfelt will host a housing fair Saturday at the San Bernardino County Fairgrounds in Victorville. The event was organized to help educate the public about how now is the best time to buy a home in the High Desert, as well as to present information about financing options and government programs to stimulate home sales and stem the rising tide of mortgage foreclosures in the area. First-time homebuyers could leave the event with all the information they need to achieve the American Dream of Homeownership.

“Our goal is to help stimulate sales, to save families from foreclosure, and to prevent others from ever getting into such situations in the future,” said Supervisor Mitzelfelt. “High Desert home prices are very low and it’s a great time to buy a home. If more people buy homes here, the result will be less families facing foreclosure. “

Featured presentations at the fair include an overview of the housing market, a panel discussion for prospective homebuyers, a panel discussion regarding financing options, a presentation regarding foreclosure solutions, and a presentation about how to avoid housing fraud.

The event will also include prize drawings and complimentary lunch.

The housing fair begins at 8:30 a.m. and concludes at 3:00 p.m. The fairgrounds are located at 14800 Seventh Street in Victorville. More information is posted at www.sbcounty.gov.
